CONCRETE SEEDLINGS

by: Shawn Pagarigan

Illustrated by: Charles Tabago

BARANGAY

APLAYA

There is a couple that lives in Barangay Aplaya and they have always been poor. Bartolome and Olivine are partners in life or rather partners in crime, together with their son Vincent which they treat harshly. But their lives are about to change after hearing a story from their rich friends about the booming industry in Estates. Olivine became an estate agent and Bartolome aids her by cutting down trees for more area.

A place not so far from the family's home, is an untouched place with a bunch of plants and animals. It is called the Green Mushroom Hut. Everyone lives happily here, especially the founder of lives, which is the family of trees that each year give birth to 1000 baby seeds. The entire event and ceremony was a joyful day, they were so happy they could wither any second.

But everything changed when the Woodcutter and Estate Agent attacked...

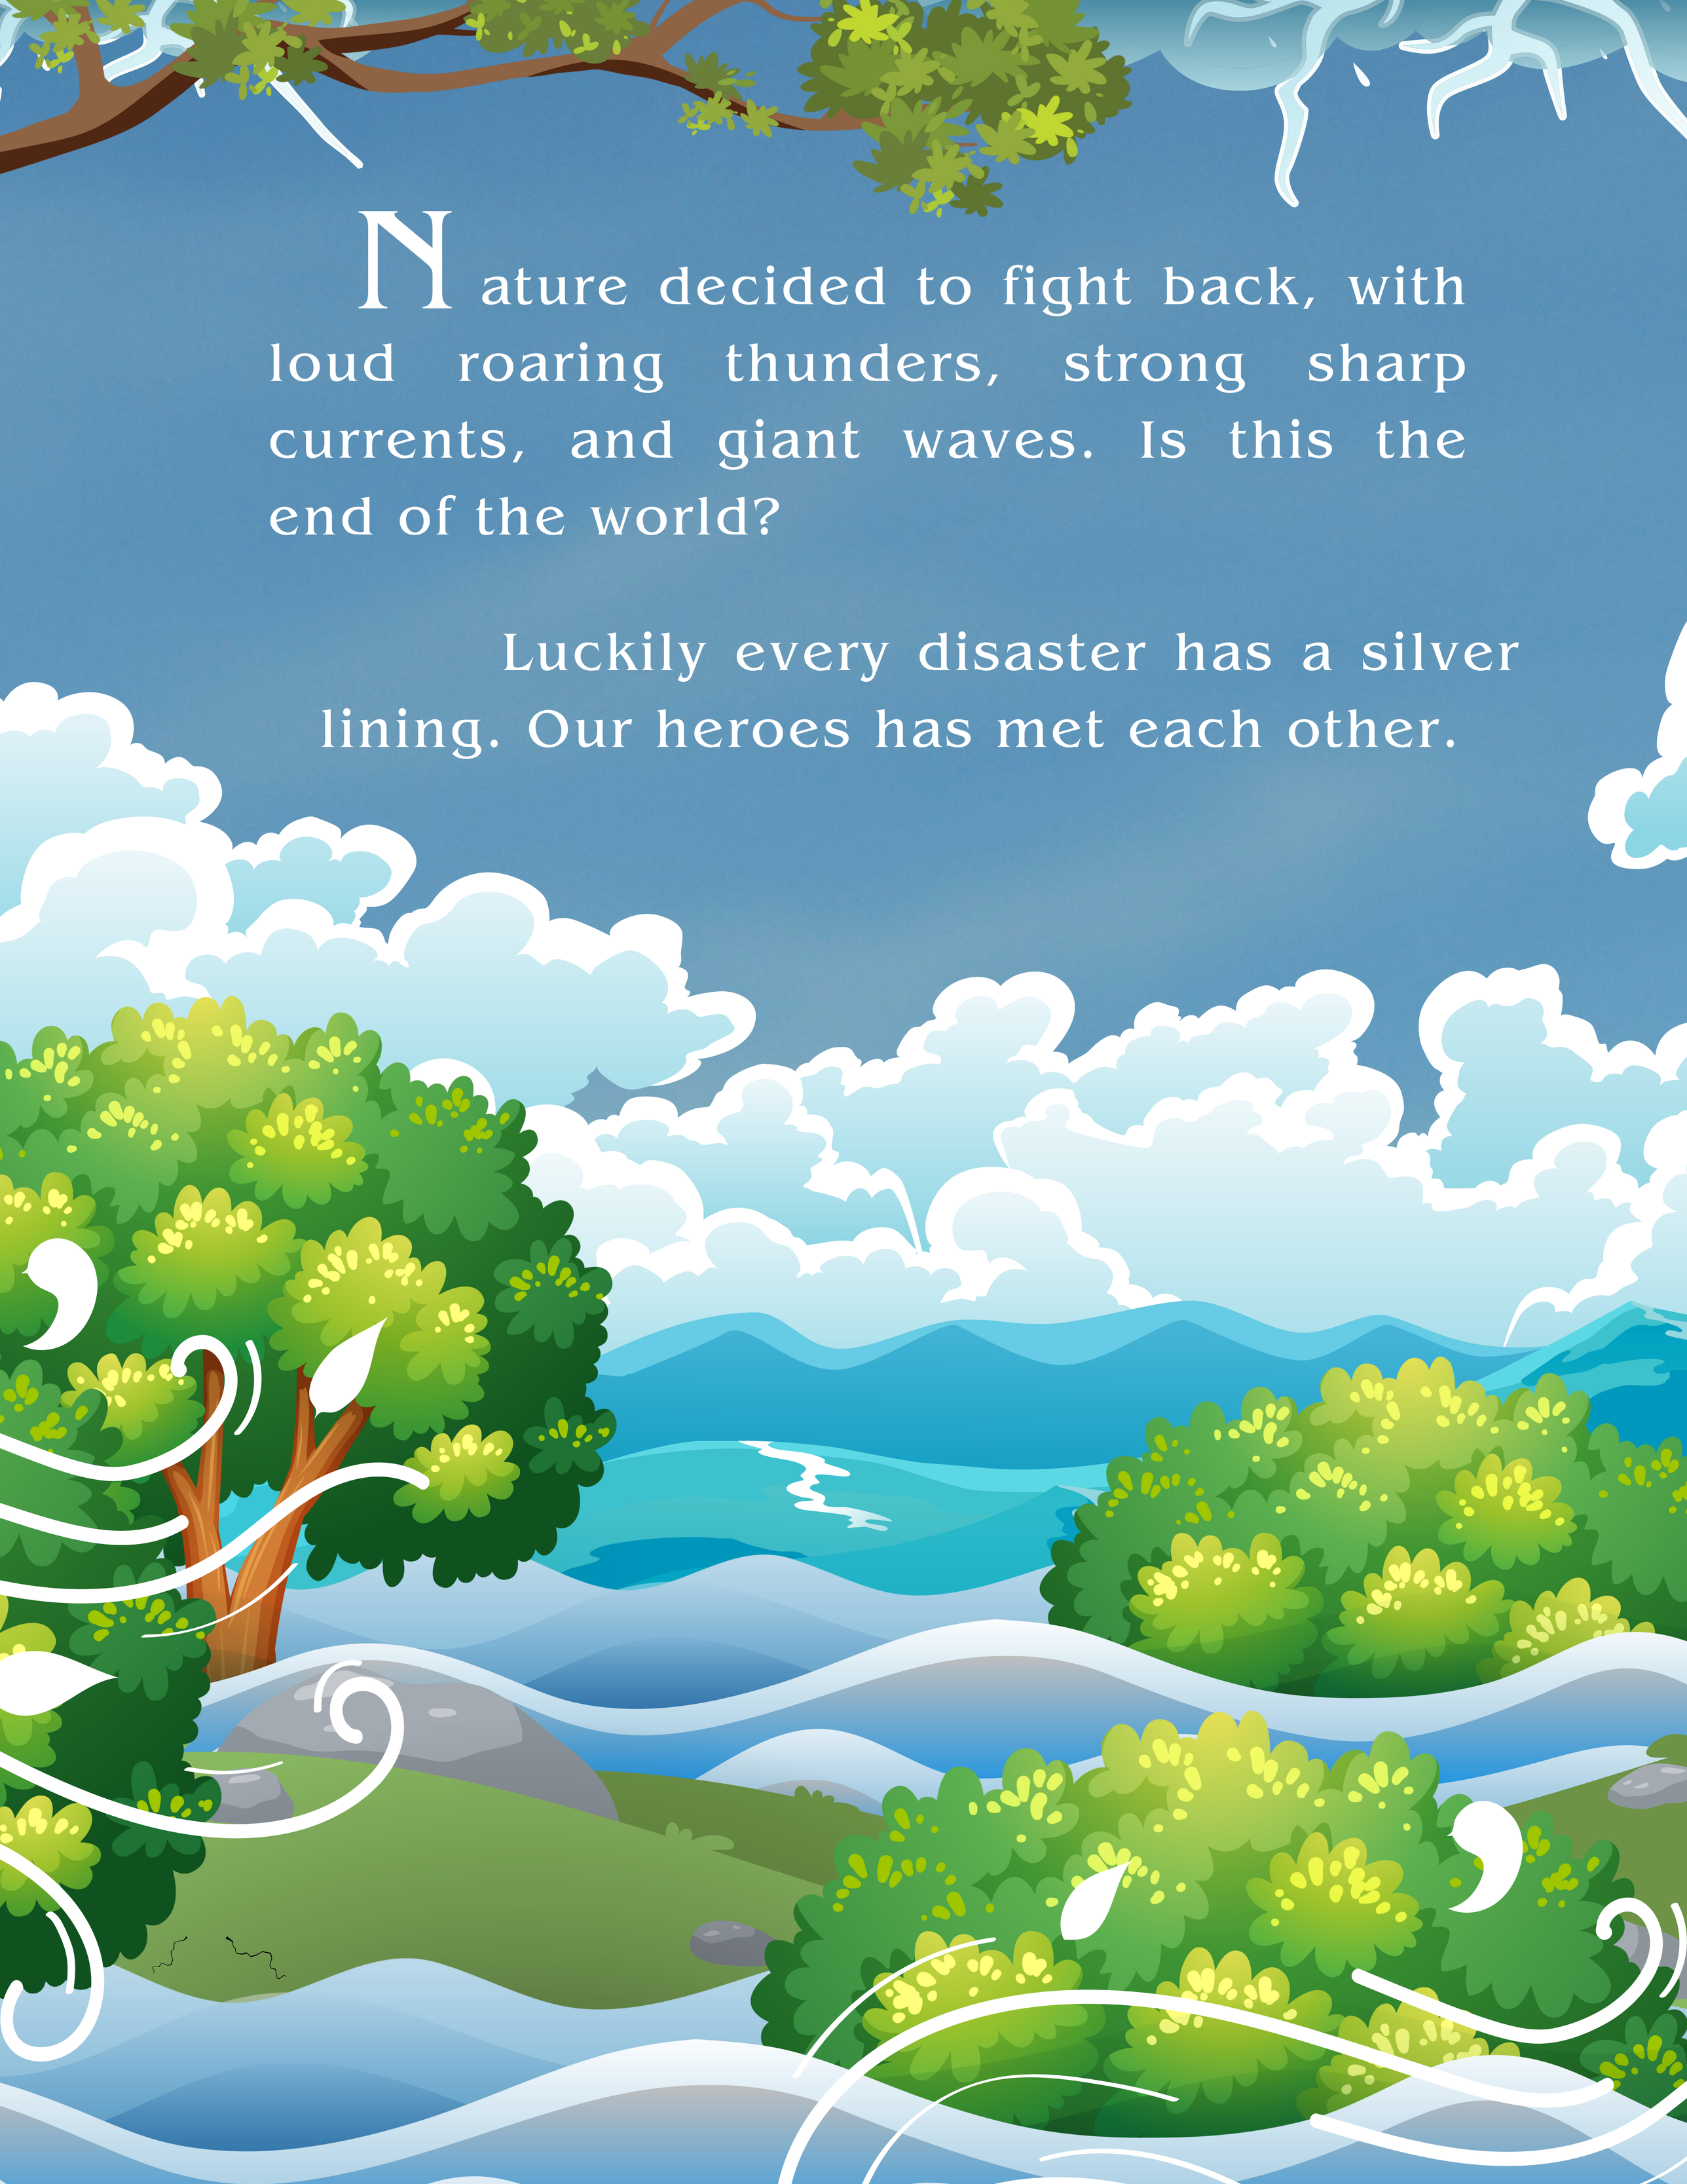
Vincent thought to himself, while he is at the back seat of his parents car. “With my parents about to shorten the decomposition time of nature let me tell you my story. As a child I was always fond of nature, to be honest with you I feel like I can hear the trees speaking to me. I feel guilty for doing this but they are my parents, and I want to make them proud. I love you mom and dad.“

"Were here now, move quickly Vincent and help your father clear out the woods" Olivine exclaimed. Vincent replied "Guess I'm back to reality." Once they arrived the father quickly started chopping the woods. With Vincent being terrified of what's happening.

The mother tree is forced to give the baby seedlings to the worms. The worms escaped with the baby seedlings underground and a new society is formed , and their goal is to bring back life.

Back to the surface Vincent tried to confront his parents about stopping in destroying nature, but they ignored him totally. Disappointed, he decided to leave his family for good, while Bartolome and Olivine continued to destroy more trees. Destroying mother earth in the process.



Nature decided to fight back, with loud roaring thunders, strong sharp currents, and giant waves. Is this the end of the world?

Luckily every disaster has a silver lining. Our heroes has met each other.

“Enough is enough, I have been a witness to the trees collapse, and I did not do anything to stop this. Let's stop my parents' from destroying the trees. Let's save the trees! “ Vincent screamed.

Vincent's parents decided to look for him, only to see him protected by a tree from a falling building.

In the end they have finally realized their mistake, and started planting baby seedlings.